THE CITYLINE CHURCH STORY

Cityline's connection to Parkcrest originally began in the mid-1960s when a few members and leaders from Parkcrest Church planted Lakewood Christian Church at its present location. The Lakewood church was launched out of a desire to connect people to Jesus throughout Lakewood and its surrounding cities. The church continued as an independent congregation until 2003, when Parkcrest Church came alongside the Lakewood church and added them as part of Parkcrest Christian Church.

After several years and many attempts at fine-tuning the ministry experience and campus model of what was then the Parkcrest Lakewood Campus, it was decided in 2010 that the campus would temporarily close for renovation and recalibration. Following much prayer and significant discussion, Parkcrest felt led to re-open the campus with the vision of planting it as an independent church.

On Easter Sunday 2011, the Lakewood campus re-opened, continuing a relationship with Parkcrest Christian Church as part of their multi-site network. In February 2012, Jack and Linda Sheets accepted the invitation to serve as the Lakewood Campus Pastors. As the church continued to learn, develop, and reach into its community, God began to grow it into a multicultural, multigenerational church—reaching people from various walks of life through its three weekend services and ministries that connect with people right where they are.

On February 1, 2016, the Lakewood campus was officially launched as an independent church plant. The planting of this new church came not only with recognition of its legacy but also with a new identity and rebranding as Cityline Church. The focus of Cityline is to love God and love people as we serve the communities of Lakewood, Bellflower, Cerritos, Artesia, and beyond—meeting various needs and providing a safe place for anyone seeking to discover how to establish and maintain a life-giving relationship with Jesus.
